Nearing the Goal.

Announcement that the movement for high school athletic stadium here is well on the way toward consummation comes as a welcome place of news. Little had been heard about the project recently, but in the meantime school officials and others taking an active part in its promotion had been working on the det dis and now have the program chaped up for presentation to FERA engineers. There seems to be assurance of final and decisive approval,

Beyond doubt this will mean greatly augmented public interest in school sports and athletics and that will contribute to sepool development and advancement generally. Competitive sports must be recognized as a vitally important factor in achool activities these days and they will continue to hold that place in the years to come, probably to a greater degree than at any time in the past.

This was a most opportune lime for furthering the project, and those who voluntarily took the initially and put it across acted whally and performed public services of real value. The site is provided on the grounds purchased several years Ago as a prospective location for a new high achool huilding and naturally that is the logical place for the stadium. It is a comparatively short distance from the uptown district and has ample space, not only for staging sports events, but for the crowds in attendance and for parking of automobiles.

Then, not the least important and opport tune, are the conditions for financing the undertaking. Ald from federal funds is avallable, an advantage which probably will never again be offered, and in addition cost of material doubtless is lower than if is likely to be in the years shend.

outire project is one which should meet with unanimous public approval, not only as a needed community improvement consummated at the right time, but as something which will bring future whole some entertainment and recreation to all Marion people, voting and old

Chinese Troops Retreating.

Japan intends to control North China, the name given to the tegion lying to the south and west of Manchukuo. That naturally leads to the question of what Japan intends to do in Central China and in South China.

In the latter regions foreign interests are firmly intreached. They will not be uprooted so easily as they were in Manchuria, for instance. They will be more stubborn than they promise to be in North China, now passing under Japanere domination. The phrase "Chinese troops retreating" has an antinous sound, or it should have, to Japanese militarists. It was predicted years ago when Japan started to get controi of Manchuria that its most formulable for would be, not Chinese soldlers, but the Chinese population - huge, musicidy, resentful and constantly multiplying. Already the resistance of Chinese resis deals has made administration of Japan's new mainland territory difficult. If to the resistance of the masses were to be sided the resistance of coldiers who have retreated until their bulls are to the wall Japan might rue its dreum of empire. There is a hanny medium in empire building, the same

Thorough Study Essential.

Discussion of proposed purchase of the Marion Water Co. plant at the city council meeting, Monday night, was interesting and timely. Dr. Frederick C. Smith was well within his rights as a citizen when be appeared for the purpose of making inquiry regarding vital points involved to the pur chuse proposal.

Dr. Smith said "$1,200,000 is a lot of money. We should have the best available information about the value of this plant before we make such an offer." Marion people as a whole will agree with him there and will also be in whole-hearted accord with his statement, "I only want the public to have a thorough understanding of what is being done."

Members of council and representatives of the public utility group backing the munic inal ownership project and ready and generally astisfurtory answers in Dr. Smith's questions and indicated that a much more thorough investigation to to be made before there is any move toward closing the purchase transaction.

This, of course, will be imperative. Before the final steps are taken the entire proposition must be annived and similed down to the minutual dotall so that the public's interests will be absolutely safeguarded. And all facts and information must be given the public in c'ear and under standable form. Beyond doubt council and others taking over responsibility in the negotiations intend to follow that course Doubtless they realize that this is a project which requires more than consideration of the present situation. It must be viewed especially in regard to the future. Every contingency and electrostance that can possibly he foresees with a resentable degree of cortainty should be fully measured and appraised. If the water plant purchase is finally brought to fulfilment, let it be one that will not bring regrets in the years

Weak Link.

If extertionists knew in advance they could not collect ransom, there would be no kidnaping. It has seemed to some Americaus, we cried over the threat of kidnaping that the way to stop it is to prevent the victim's family from paying the money domanded by the criminals,

The remedy is no good, because life is more precious than property in such cases. Kidnaping, unfortunately, cannot be prevented by trying to present the payment of ransoms. Kidnaping can and is being discouraged, however, by taking advantage of the ransom negotiation.

The Weyerhouser case illustrated clearly that ranson money, instead of an admission of defeat from agencies responsible for detection of extertionists, really is their most valuable implement. It provides a positive connection with the criminals.

Money lan't any good unless II can be spent. Fow criminals who collect causing money in an extertion case can afford to wait a long time before they start passing bills. By listing the acrisi numbers of the money and by other means of identification, police are able to make kidnaners tran-

The Weyerhauser ransom bills made a plain trail for police to follow. The detection of two persons by this means and the identification of a third, who had ransom money in his automobile, give extertionists something new to worry about What seemed to be a weak link in their favor is being made a week link in the favor of their victims.

Sensitive
Insiders also credit the President with astint maneuvering on the constitutional amendment shuff. By picking it up and then apparently dropping it he has made the issue his own if it shows signs of being valuable later. If it flops, he is in no way committed to it. He's free to let the voltage of popular sentiment guide his future course.

Note what this move accomplishes. Radical labor has been not for auch an amendment. It's been talked up by left wingers for their own purposes. Now the issue has been taken away from them. Hugy Long or Father Coughin might have used it to strike sparks. They can't now. At the same time conservatives are enjoined from accusing the President of disrupting the constitution. They can't possibly make the claim stick that he's trying to force the amendment. He needs only to point to his superscruptions observance of the principles set forth by the suprema court to make that charge look silly.

There's no teiling yet how large a proportion of the electorate favors an amendment. Informed sources an amendment. Informed sources an amendment. Informed sources an amendment. Informed sources the femiline reaction registered to date has been such weaker so far than the White House expected. Moreover the femiline reaction registered to date has been strongly in favor of leaving the Constitution alone—a curious outeropping of conservation on this point from all sections of the country. If it keeps up for amendment will almost certainly be pigeomboled. The Roosevelt administration is particularly sensitive to the options of women voters.
